WASHINGTON and NEW YORK – June 24, 2016 – Dance/USA and Dance/NYC announce the passing of Bob Yesselman, founding director of Dance/USA's first branch office, Dance/NYC, on June 1, 2016.

An inspired director, Yesselman led Dance/NYC from 2002 to 2007. Under his leadership, the branch office delivered powerful advocacy, research, and professional development to dance artists in the New York metropolitan area and served as a model when Dance/USA developed additional branch offices in Philadelphia and Washington, DC. He retired in 2007 after 36 years of serving dance artists.

In his retirement letter to the field Bob counted three accomplishments as highlights of his career: the first, his presidency of the 1987 gala, "Dancing for Life," which drew critical attention to HIV/AIDS in the dance field; second, his role as executive director of the Paul Taylor Dance Company; and third, his time at Dance/NYC.

"I have had the privilege to work with Bob in many capacities over many years," saidLinda Shelton, executive director, The Joyce Theater; Dance/USA Trustee; and Dance/NYC Board Member. "As an admirer during his many years with Paul Taylor, as his general manager at the Joffrey Ballet when he was the executive director, as a collaborator on the original studies for the World Trade Center Performing Arts Center and as Dance/NYC's founding director. He was a great leader, a wise mentor, and a trusted advisor, but most of all, Bob was a wonderful friend. I will miss him."

"Bob was an inspiring & visionary activist for dance," said dance advocate and Dance/NYC advisorBeverly D'Anne. "His dedication to the field was unwavering. He is much missed!"

Bob Yesselman's legacy is very much alive at Dance/USA and Dance/NYC. The world of dance has lost a great advocate.
