WHAT WE HEARD

Since last fall, we've collected public engagement for CreateNYC through conversations on and offline, in-depth focus groups, borough workshops, neighborhood dialogues, and Office Hours with the Commissioner. New Yorkers showed up and demonstrated how important culture is to their lives and communities.

Help make sure your priorities are reflected in CreateNYC: on May 15 we are releasing What We Heard, a look at the feedback and major themes that have emerged through public engagement. Through May 31, you can visit www.CreateNYC.org to review proposals from public feedback and identify what is most important to you.

In addition to viewing the What We Heard proposals and rating your priorities online, join us at one of the five borough Office Hours with Commissioner Tom Finkelpearl or on social media on Facebook, Instagram, or Twitter.
