Jenny Rocha, artistic director of Rocha Dance Theater, is seeking 3 dancers for understudy/swing positions for her performance group, "Jenny Rocha & Her Painted Ladies". As a resident artist, she creates work that is performed every Saturday night at Galapagos Art Space in Brooklyn as part of their "Floating Kabarette". Dancers who are chosen at the audition will be expected to learn multiple short acts in different genres of dance. The repertory will be taught during a rehearsal intensive. There is performance pay. Must be available on Saturdays. Looking for dancers with strong modern technique, theatricality and a great sense of rhythm. Tap a plus.<!--StartFragment-->

Jenny Rocha & Her Painted Ladies perform vignettes that are a fusion of physical comedy, theater, burlesque and contemporary dance. Rocha creates versatile, high-energy dances using a wide range of styles such as modern, hip-hop, jazz and tap.

"The Painted Ladies" made their mark on the New York cabaret scene in 2006, where they quickly caught the attention of venues and audiences with a riveting collection of pieces. Created, conceived and choreographed by Rocha, the ensemble takes dancing on a cabaret stage to a new level. Sexy, bold, comedic and empowering!
