Hello all you amazing movers

So I'm thinking that it would be fun to have a dance jam over at occupy wall st friday night (tonight Oct 21) into sat morning. nothing like dancing all night under the stars with friends. I've had the chance to dance in small doses over there, but it would be so much more fun if you were there too. anyway, I have some musicians who might show up to play.... and hopefully you might show up to dance.... as will I. I'll be there somewhere around 9:30/10pm and planning on going until I drop soooooo yeah. thats about the long and short of it. please pass this along to anyone you think would wanna come out, and please really do consider it. if you havent been over there yet, its just a great vibe that is open to these kinds of acts of public dance which is kind of a gift i think its important to honor. so yeah, come out, itll be fun. bring layers, be prepared for anything weather-wise, and come on down
