A week of dance and performance training in San Francisco:

LEVYdance Summer Intensive
June 24-28, 2013
10am-4pm, Daily

Held at LEVYstudio
19 Heron St.
San Francisco, CA 94103

Join Benjamin Levy and LEVYdance Company Artists for a week-long summer intensive that trains dancers through a comprehensive approach focusing on technique, partnering, composition, repertory, and performance practice. The intensive provides a rigorous setting to explore your movement patterns and how to expand beyond them, how you can fill the stage and studio with your presence, and how to train your body to clearly communicate an authentic experience.

Levy's signature aesthetic is a vibrant landscape of physical action and reaction - under his direction, dance artists express personal narrative in physical currents, engaging and responding in cinematic scenarios of human intimacy.

TUITION
$350 (register by 4.29.13)

Intensive Curriculum:

Personal development
exercises investigate awareness and presence, bringing together who we are as dancers and who we are as individuals, fostering a richer and more authentic performance experience.

LEVYdance technique concentrates on the principles of momentum, weight, attack and detail.

Composition exercises provide each participant the opportunity to source original movement and discover a personal approach to creation.

LEVYdance partnering plays with momentum and weight to create new physical and intentional relationships with two or more dancers in space.
