About MWG

Movement Workshop Group (MWG) is a Brooklyn-based company of dancers, actors, and musicians who coalesce to create distinct dance theatre pieces that not only provide an evening of entertainment but also provoke thought and lift the audience to a higher more inspired psychic state. The work is collaborative, drawing inspiration from different musicians, writers, choreographers, and the performers themselves. This joining of artistic voices makes the Movement Workshop Group a unique creative force.

The company trains intensively in both dance and acting and continues to evolve a unique methodology. As active members of the New York artist community, MWG holds training workshops and classes in Graham Modern Technique, Contemporary, Hip Hop, Acting, and other forms of performance aimed toward teaching and creating new connections with fellow artists.
