The video is a Public Silent Dance Party Flash Mob where the dancers/partiers start fully clothed and strip down to bathing suits and/or underwear through the song. All dancers will be given their own set of bluetooth Quiet Clubbing headphones (You hear the music but no one around you knows what you are dancing to). The energy will be fun, summery, exciting and electric. The vibe of the shoot will be a party more than a typical shoot.

Shooting takes place Saturday May 31st starting on a rooftop by the Bedford stop in Williamsburg. We will move to the L train and then stop in Union Square for a final performance.

The shoot will end with a rooftop hosted by Quiet Clubbing in the Flatiron District. Free entrance for everyone involved in production and $20 discount for any friends that want to attend. We will also be shooting some footage on the roof.

* If you can only come for a portion of the shoot, just let us know and we can try to work you into the schedule.

"Like Daryl Hall, Smokey Robinson, Stevie Wonder, and Jack White rolled into one, Jay Stolar is a one-man tour de force, sliding effortlessly from one genre to the next. Last month his single "Brooklyn Hustle" became the anthem for the Brooklyn Nets, playing through the Barclays Center during the Nets playoff run. With this next single "Just an Animal" Stolar is well positioned to break this summer's Billboard TOP 40 chart."
