DanceTheRoof is an immersive performance playspace in NYC, where everyone has a chance to create, move and play. Every 30 minutes, there's something new being created and you have the chance to observe, participate, and document it. We need performers, videographers, photographers, artists of all genres, and audience members to make this event live up to it's magical potential. A space to play, network, show work, see new things, try out new concepts and technologies, and most of all have fun!

RSVP is REQUIRED to attend (<http://www.elinddance.com/dancetherooft>). The event is free, but contributions are being accepted to cover the location fees.

- To build community
- To dance how you feel
- To document an experience
- To make art beyond a stage
- To connect with other humans
- To collaborate with performance and technology
- To be outside in the concrete jungle under an open sky
- To experience self expression through movement
