Bryce Dance Company is holding auditions for our '16-'17 season! We are looking for up to five dancers (male and female) to join us for our upcoming season. The season will focus on developing new work with a community focus. To register and for more information please send CV and headshot to brycedance@gmail.com.

Bryce Dance Company believes that art has the potential to inspire positive social change. We create work for the stage with professional dancers; works in alternative spaces; and frequently work collaboratively with communities and organizational partners.

We frequently invite alternative populations (i.e. elders and people without formal training) into the creation of new work. We believe in exposing new audiences to dance and making dance accessible. We often present professional work in public spaces, make the process of creating work visible and facilitating dialogue between the audience and the artists.
