

Thursday, September 29, 2016

WORKSHOP ONE//Seeking New Collaborators

Company: Hannah Cullen

Location: New York, NY

Compensation: Compensation will be scaled based on fundraising. For more information email contact below.

► Share | Print | Download

WORKSHOP ONE will be the first in a series of gatherings hosted in conjunction with the creation of my new work. As it stands now, it is an exploration of storytelling using the shared parts of personal history to encourage empathy. The piece will address how fear influences our relationship to our sexuality and our bodies.

ONE is designed specifically to help me find NEW COLLABORATORS.

I am looking for performers and creatives who are eager to engage in thoughtful dialogue and open communication about personal history. I work heavily with the stories and personalities of the people I work with and derive material from them.

I am particularly looking for people who:

Are willing to share openly

Have experience with movement

Are comfortable with speaking on stage/acting training to some degree (is preferred)

Have an interest in social justice activism

Note: I am interested in receiving inspiration for my work from people beyond my direct collaborators. ANYONE who is interested in coming into a space to experiment with other artists, is encouraged to join (whether you are available/want to be in a new work or not--this is also about community).

WHEN: Monday, October 24th 3:30-5:30pm

WHERE: Gus Solomons Studio, 889 Broadway New York, NY

To attend please RSVP to hannah@hannahcullen.com or using the contact page on this site.

Hannah Cullen
Center for Social Innovation; Women's Lab 601 W 26th St #325
New York, NY, 10001
6464989179
www.hannahcullen.com

For more information:
Hannah Cullen
hannah@hannahcullen.com
6464989179

< back

previous listing • next listing