John Staton

We know you're working on something truly groundbreaking right now, but have you found the perfect place to introduce your efforts to the world? EXP would love to showcase YOUR talent at our Industry Night at the Center for Performance Research in Williamsburg on April 7th.

EXP is currently accepting applications for works to be featured in our evening of dance. Performances will be attended by artists, enthusiasts, and professionals alike. A brief reception will be hosted after the performances have concluded, where performers and members of the crowd can mingle and talk shop.

We can't wait to read more about your work! Show us what you got!
