Lazer Eyes is an original electronic dance opera written by Van Broh and produced by Amanda + James. Weaving together the old and the new, Lazer Eyes is both a classic tale of an outsider who becomes a hero through extraordinary circumstances, and a tongue-in-cheek satire of the digital era.

Part I was performed in December 2017 and we are continuing the production with Part II at National Sawdust on March 31 at 10pm. The production already invovles 5 committeed dancers and we are looking to fill the role of Lazer Eyes. The role does not require speaking or singing but some acting/physical comedy experience is preferred! Especially looking for a dancer with strong technique and improvisational experience who is interested in contributing their own ideas and personality to the production. The show also invovles extensive video design and light work.
