CUCK by St. John McKay

Triskelion Arts is seeking proposals for our new Experimental Works program to take place in the Douglas Elliman Studio Theater. Through this program, Triskelion Arts will co-present works that the proposer views as "experimental" in theater, dance, performance art, or any other medium.

ROLLING DEADLINE

Triskelion's aim in launching this program is to provide a venue and support to works appropriate for an intimate and informal space, and to encourage the creation of new work by removing the ever-present pressure on artists for having significant up-front costs for the rental of space for presentation. Triskelion Arts can provide technical and front-of-house staff for your production (also with no up-front costs) or provide support for professional technical staff of the proposer's choosing. Triskelion's goal is to provide a straight-forward yet flexible arrangement for works that may not easily fit the guidelines of other programs at Triskelion Arts or other venues, and to welcome new audiences and new ideas to our stages.
