A New York City-based dance company seeks a full-time administrative associate to take on a multi-faceted position that encompasses both business-oriented and creative tasks.

Candidates should

- > be interested in joining a small, family-like team that shares ideas and responsibilities in support of the company's continued growth.
- > have a warm, outgoing, flexible demeanor, and the ability to interact professionally and pleasantly with both coworkers and potential clients/collaborators.
- > be able to work independently and with the team, as needed.
- > be extremely well-written and articulate in person and over the phone. (A writing sample may be requested.)
- > be patient with process, but also able to work under a deadline when necessary.
- > be available for national travel to venues and performing arts conferences throughout the year. (Transportation expenses will be covered and accommodations provided.)
- > be willing to work on weekends as the company's schedule requires.
- > have ample knowledge of, enthusiasm for, and/or direct experience with the performing arts.

Once appointed, associate will

- > work closely with the company's artistic directors and one other full-time associate.
- > manage the company's current bookings and (tenaciously) pursue new performance opportunities.
- > work with the artistic team to build positive relationships with presenters, audiences, and media outlets.
- > assist in the maintenance and development of both general and event-specific marketing materials.
- > have the opportunity to work, in large part, remotely.

Note that this is a full-time position. Though those with backgrounds in the performing arts (dancers, actors, musicians, etc.) are strongly encouraged to apply, candidates should not currently be pursuing careers as performers.
