HIVEWILD IS SEEKING DANCERS

Hivewild is seeking dancers to join the team, performing in projects for our upcoming year.

Hivewild artists are expected to be smart and intuitive movers. Members of Hivewild aim to be local leaders by actively engaging in cross-disciplinary collaboration, skill-sharing, and the creation of accessible performance work. Every human has a body, and Hivewild uses this understanding as a starting point to identify connections rather than differences between people.

For consideration, please submit headshot, resume, video link or reel to info@hivewild.com
Open process auditions will be held in Manhattan on Thursday, March 14 at 12:30 PM + Friday, March 15 at 8:30 AM.
Please specify which day you are interested in attending.

Compensation and process schedule will be provided upon further interest

About Hivewild

Hivewild is a contemporary non-profit movement platform created to unlock emotion and ignite conversation through formal performances and public programming dedicated to community development. Founded by Katherine Maxwell, Hivewild's work is rooted in the principles of radical inclusion and lifelong curiosity.

With a strong belief in the significance of genuine impulse, Hivewild shapes work through the use of internal triggers - a thought, a flavor, an emotion - to spurn motion throughout the body. A refined fluidity and strong sense of honesty are signatures to Hivewild's movements.

Hivewild dancers are expected and encouraged to continuously seek greater levels of empathy and vulnerability. Learn more about Hivewild or visit us on Instagram.
