Description

We're capturing a community of like minded people in New York City (an email list of over 600 and counting!) whom recognize that leading an active way of life makes them more efficient, focused, and effective. WOLACO WEDNESDAY is our chance to put that mission into practice through group workouts. Sometimes we'll visit a gym, studio, or have a NYC trainer lead a outdoor session. We post an Instagram story every week to our account (15.8 K followers) featuring your workout with user-generated and team-generated content.

QUALIFICATIONS

We are looking for studios and fitness professionals to host our popular WOLACO WEDNESDAY events. Your area of expertise can vary; we are excited to explore the various ways human beings can be active. This is a great opportunity for instructors looking to showcase their fitness skills and personal brand in front of a loyal and dedicated NYC workout community. Ability to host at your home studio is preferred during the winter months. To apply, please send a description of your workout, if there is a specific location/studio involved and which Wednesdays in 2019 that would work for you. Please feel free to email any questions to morelife@wolaco.com.
