Hi, beauties!

Call for movers who have been afraid/hesitant to get back into the studio because of body insecurity/general anxiety about the pressures of the dance world/a history of compulsive or restrictive eating/personal setbacks/whatever the reason, you are welcome! I would love the opportunity to hear from you and have our discussions/findings eventually inform a class series geared toward getting back in a safe and giving way.

The initial meetings will involve just talking. Based on feedback/discoveries, we will gradually involve movement and other art forms as the process develops. Please contact me if you'd be interested in getting involved or have any questions. Thank you for reading!
