Calling all dancers and movement artists with a passion or interest in structured dance improvisation!

OPEN DANCE ENSEMBLE is seeking dancers for our fourth Spring season. We have three upcoming shows and are in the midst of planning for more performance opportunities. The ensemble specializes in self-conducted improvised dances. We have created more than a dozen works and performed all over- Movement Research, GreenSpace Studio, and Jennifer Muller's Studio to name a few- since we began in 2017. The ensemble is and always has been a volunteer organization, and we pride ourselves on the dedication of our dancers to collaboratively create.

The Open Dance Ensemble, based in New York City and founded in January 2017, presents live, self-conducted improvised dance performances to share the excitement, joy, and beauty of dance with our audiences. Following in the footsteps of the Judson Church Theater, where improvisation first became a part of modern dance in 1962, and drawing upon Karl Berger's Creative Music Studio conducted music improv which began in 1974, the Open Dance Ensemble created self-conducted improvisation, a new form of dance choreography in which the movers not only improvise but also conduct each other as the performance unfolds.

We are interested in the aesthetics of dance. However, our dance philosophy and collaborative way of creating and performing could be viewed as a metaphor for social/political organization in the sense that our content may be relevant to certain issues of today.
