Furthering its philosophy to provide alternative forms of care, The Floor offers discounted space and in-kind support to movement-based artists in the process of developing work.

The 10-week long program provides two artists with 10-hours a week of subsidized studio space, administrative resources and an opportunity to present or discuss the work created in the studio in one of our Dressed|Undressed: Work in Progress showings.

The Artist in Residency Program is supported by Community Members of The Floor. These members support the production of these important works and share our mission to curate a space for engagement, cultural equity and wellbeing.

We are currently seeking applications for our Summer (June-August) and Fall (September-November) program.
