MDP

McKoy Dance Project celebrates and shares the rich history of Black traditions in dance. Providing free public classes centered around dance styles that are rooted in Black History, MDP provides an overview of Black Dance and fosters discussion around the legacy and lineage from a few dance techniques practiced widely today. This program increases access to dance for the community while also educating on the influence of Black Dance. There are two more opportunities this month to dance with us for free!

Thursday, February 22nd at 6:30pm - 8:00pm

Sabar West African with Bakary Fall

Thursday, February 29th at 6:30pm - 8:00pm

House with Gianna Theodore
