GALLIM

Designed for up-and-coming choreographers, directors, and generative artists, this Process Immersion with Raja Feather Kelly invites you into an intensive, practice-based investigation of what it means to lead creatively and authentically.

Raja's approach dismantles the traditional teacher-student model in favor of one that centers experimentation, authorship, and individuality. Through rigorous improvisation, choreographic invention, and physical research, participants will unpack foundational principles of space, time, dynamics, and relationship while connecting them to personal history, performance presence, and artistic identity. Class becomes a space for ritual, risk, and revelation. You'll be challenged to create, to problem-solve with the body, and to move beyond the edges of form and expectation. Raja offers tools to expand your stamina as a leader, your dexterity as a mover, and your clarity as a maker.

This is a space for fire-starters: those ready to push their process forward and meet their work with new urgency and imagination.
