As part of the second Dance Reflections Festival in New York, Van Cleef & Arpels invites professional dancers and advanced practitioners into the studio for a rare series of workshops led by artists featured in the Festival's performances. Held at The Joyce's Center for Creativity & Dance, the workshops offer direct access to the choreographers and companies shaping the work on stage.

Sessions are led by some of the choreographers whose work is featured in the Festival, including Jan Martens, Leïla Ka, Noé Soulier, Soa Ratsifandrihana and Nacera Belaza, alongside dancers from select companies performing in the Festival, including Lucinda Childs Dance Company, Trisha Brown Dance Company, Lyon Opera Ballet and Ballet National de Marseille. Designed primarily for professional dancers and advanced students, with select offerings for open-level movers and children starting at age 6.
