Founder and Artistic Director of KGDDance, Katya Danko will be teaching a contemporary modern class series this April! This month we are focusing on Dance Artistry.

This class focuses on the modern/contemporary dancer as an artist, creating a world the audience can believe. After a thorough full body warm up, Katya uses her theater background to guide dancers through a series of movement improvisations. Using specific improvisational techniques, each dancer will be able to explore his/her own way of moving and develop his/her artistic and creative muscles. Finding a mind/body connection to their own movement dancers are able to specify the world they are in and enhance their performance quality. For the last section of class we apply these techniques to choreography. Allowing the dancer to play around with how they perform someone else's movement in order to make it personal and captivating.

With her instructional specificity and passion for dance, Katya creates an environment of non judgemental growth. This class is great for beginner/intermediate level dancers who want to advance their movement and performative skills. Or for the more advanced dancers aiming to fine tune their work quality. If you have any questions about these classes you can reach out to Katya through kgddanceco@gmail.com

And for those who are interested in auditioning for our company this Spring, these classes are a fantastic way to get acquainted with our style.
