How does AXIS Dance Company approach improvisation?

If you have ever wondered how we use improvisation in our daily practice and creative process, now is your chance to dance with us and learn AXIS Improvisation tools with our Summer Improv Series!

A Four-Part virtual workshop series led by AXIS Company Dancers to share
AXIS' approach to improvisation and movement. Through the lens of physically integrated dance, this series will foster self-expression, creativity, and radical inclusion. The series is open to disabled and non-disabled individuals regardless of movement experience. If you have any questions, please feel free to email our Community Engagement Manager Mark Travis Rivera at MarkTravis@axisdance.org.
