With traditional African movement as its base, African Piragramac traverses into other dance languages – the underpinning energy to ascertain being spiritually physical and physically spiritual. Exhilarating the body to be in tune with the first drum and the first spiritual center, the heart and the pineal gland, respectfully, this African-centered practice (developed by original Kemetologist, Lee 'Aco' Thompson) works to inspire the bio-kemet-cal (chemi-cal) self to be one with creation.
