Led by Jennine Willett, Co-Artistic Director of Third Rail Projects and co-creator of the immersive theater shows Then She Fell, The Grand Paradise, and Learning Curve, this 3-hour course explores the craft of creating and directing immersive scenes. Offering a glimpse into the generative process of Third Rail Projects and sharing Jennine's toolbox for crafting intimate audience experiences, this course captures the experimental nature of devising this type of work. Participants will explore scenes from both angles, from the director/performer's perspective and from that of the audience, as being on both sides of a scene is a key aspect to this process.
