The Playground NYC, an innovative network of exchanges through merging professional dancers and choreographers, Co-Founders Loni Landon and Gregory Dolbashian have provided a place for the dance community to grow, unite, and share ideas uninhibitedly. Our Sessions allow dancers to experience various choreographic styles and ideas, engage with a new community of dancers, and gather resourceful information and inspiration from the array of choreographers involved. In turn, choreographers are paid for their creative investigations, are given free space to explore new movement with professional dancers and are provided with the opportunity to establish relationships with new dancers and fellow choreographers.
