This Guest Teacher Lab is divided into two different modules. Modules can be taken separately or together.

This Guest Teacher Lab is open to dancers, body-rooted performers, physical actors of all levels, ages, and capabilities. Modules will explore the following elements and subjects:

Module I // Introduction to Butoh "ma" (12 hrs)
May 3, 6pm – 10pm; May 4 & 5, 10am – 2pm

This lab focuses on Tadashi Endo's Butoh-ma method which aims to make the invisible visible. "Ma" is a Japanese concept related to "emptiness" and "space in-between." It suggests an interval and a consciousness of place. Through these sessions, students will explore this unique concept.

Module II // Performance Collaboration & Public Presentation (40 hours)
May 8-10 6pm-10pm, May 11-12, 10am-2pm & May 15-17, 6pm-10pm // Public presentation: May 18-19 12pm-4pm

In this 40-hour module, Tadashi aims to create a new collaborative work, based on the Butoh "ma" theory, together with workshop participants. Participants will be exposed to all aspects of making a piece, which can include costume making and technical preparations, and it will culminate in a public presentation at a selected New York Restoration Project community garden. This performance lab will take place as part of LEIMAY's presenting series OUTSIGHT presented in partnership with NYRP.
