Leah Stein Dance Company, located in Philadelphia, is pleased to announce its first summer intensive this August!

This intensive welcomes dance artists looking to immerse in creative process, practice, performance and practical skill building in the field today. Offering an intimate learning setting, students will get to work closely with Leah Stein, company members, and additional guest artists.

The backbone of LSDC's Intensive is to not only immerse emerging artists in the creative process unique to the company, but to offer valuable resources to support their success as professionals in the complex performance world of today.

LSDC's intensive is perfect for rising junior & seniors in college, recent graduates, or emerging artists looking for mentorship and artistic development. LSDC is committed to making the intensive as accessible as possible to all applicants. Financial aid is available. LSDC is able to help out of town students find affordable housing.
