The 2016 Lubovitch Winter Intensive will take place from December 28th – January 12th at Adelphi University. Located in Garden City, NY, it is easily accessible by train from New York City and Long Island. Enrollment is open but tailored to suit advanced students and professional level dancers. Each day will start with training in Modern or Ballet Technique after which participants will be taught and coached on sections of Lubovitch repertory by company rehearsal directors, company members and Lubovitch master teachers. In addition, the workshop will include weekly lectures and specialty classes. Because of the intensive's strong emphasis on individual attention, space is limited.
