

Monday, March 4, 2013

NDI Teaching Artist Training: March 4th - 14th

Company: National Dance Institute
Venue: NDI Center for Learning & the Arts
Location: New York, NY

► Share | Print | Download

NDI Teaching Artist Training is a 10-day immersion in National Dance Institute's renowned teaching techniques. Led by NDI's Associate Artistic Director Tracy Straus and a team of Master Teaching Artists, the training takes place in residence at NDI partner school PS 123M in Harlem, giving participants practical experience teaching NYC public school children, and at the NDI Center for Learning & the Arts in Harlem. Each year, professional artists and educators from around the globe participate in the training and emerge from this transformative experience with an advanced set of teaching tools and a deepened understanding of the power of the arts in education. NDI Teaching Artist Training includes daily teaching assignments, choreography workshops, stimulating group discussions, and presentations from leaders in education. Successful completion of NDI Teaching Artist Training is a prerequisite for employment with National Dance Institute. For more information: abarry@nationaldance.org.

National Dance Institute
217 West 147th Street between Frederick Douglass and Adam
Clayton Powell Blvds
New York, NY, 10039
212.226.0083
http://www.nationaldance.org/programs_teacher_2013.htm

Schedule
March 4, 2013: 8:30am

< back

previous listing • next listing