NimbusPRESENTS: Thinking In Full Color's Fifth Annual Season of In Full Color.

In Full Color is an annual theatrical performance featuring women of color from all over the country. In its landmark fifth year, the show is taking on mother-daughter relationships, the fight against the patriarchy, the core of identity and more. By continuing to amplify voices that are rarely heard, IFC19 promises uniquely riveting stories and timely conversations about hot-button issues affecting our community.

About Thinking In Full Color

Thinking In Full Color (TIFC) is an award-winning organization that empowers women of color through education and the arts. Through our programming, we empower female-identified creators while educating audiences about the need for diversity in the media, racial issues and cultural exchange. We create opportunities for women of color in theater, visual art, comedy, music, dance and other media. TIFC is a sponsored project of Fractured Atlas, a non-profit arts service organization.
