Join Pointeworks for a special, intimate studio event during our January NYC Creative Residency.

On Thursday, January 15, we'll open the doors of Studio 5 at New York City Center for a one-hour in-studio showing of our newest work — a 15-minute ballet created by choreographer Jacquelyn Long with an original score by composer Katie Jenkins.

This relaxed open rehearsal is designed especially for patrons, older arts supporters, and those who love witnessing the creative process up close. You'll see the full work in its nearly finished form and take part in a warm, conversational dialogue with the artists.
