We just wanted to touch base and share with you an awesome new portfolio building package we are offering. We understand that not everyone has a huge budget and all you may want is good exposure for your brand. Well, we have a solution to that problem. We are introducing our new promotional sessions.

From August 2nd- August 12th, I will be offering photography services to dancers who are looking to build their portfolio. Each session includes your traditional looks for new polaroids and portraits for your book and maybe your next casting call at an affordable price! Not to mention that with each session, you will receive 10 digital images, (3) 8x11 prints for your book and a print release to print on your own! I KNOW!

Does this sound like something you would be interested in? If so, just send us an email us at Debbie@dagimagesnyc.com and we'll start preparing for your session.
