Part of Platform 2016: A Body in Places

Eiko's interest is in the East Village's history as a home for multiple generations of immigrants, activists, artists, outcasts, dancers, musicians, and poets. This history and her own connection to the neighborhood has inspired her to perform one solo every day (Monday – Friday) for small audiences over three weeks at various locations in the East Village.

Audience members will gather at St. Mark's Church and will be accompanied to a nearby place where Eiko will perform.

The specific indoor places will not be revealed in advance but will include familiar and unfamiliar places along Second Avenue and near St. Mark's Church.
