Pantos Project Dance presents Time & Space. This performance features new works by Artistic Director Kat Pantos created on the professional company seamlessly merging technically proficient and athletically charged concert and commercial contemporary work with current repertoire. Pantos will premiere Orange Juice, a commercial piece performed in a living room setting with boundary-pushing artistry and Zenosyne, a quartet battling the pacing of time. Pantos will revive Sleight of Hand [2023], Memories of Moments [2023], Let the Waves Carry you Where the Light Cannot [2022] and its company premiere She Said, She Said [2013].

Joining the professional company, the adult collective, ensemble, will present new works by Carolyn Breton-Pantos & Marissa Masson. The pre-professional youth company, MOVERS, will present 'but if', originally premiering at the Salem State University High School Dance Festival.

Join us at the Boston University Dance Theatre as we explore various spaces through relativity.
