

FOR AUDIENCES

Community Calendar Volunteering

Tuesday, October 16, 2018

Urban Bush Women: Talk 'Trane

Company: BRIC
Venue: BRIC House
Location: Brooklyn, NY

► Share | Print | Download

Hayim Heron

Talk 'Trane is a free interactive movement experience that takes participants behind the creative process of Urban Bush Women's evening-length piece, Walking with 'Trane (2015). Walking with 'Trane was inspired by the musical life and spiritual journey of John Coltrane, a composer at the forefront of jazz innovation in a racially-charged America of the '50s and '60s.

In this workshop, part of BRIC JazzFest, pianist George Caldwell shares excerpts of his original score, and talks about his inspiration for the work and how he interpreted the music of John Coltrane in his own voice. Urban Bush Women's dancers will informally show excerpts of process and respond to the music Caldwell plays in the moment, demonstrating the collaborative and responsive approach taken in making the piece. Participants are guided through explorations used in the choreographic process and encouraged to respond to the music with their own movement. Talk 'Trane is open to everyone, no dance experience necessary.

FREE with RSVP!

BRIC
647 Fulton Street
Brooklyn, NY, 11217
<https://www.bricartsmedia.org/events-performances/urban-bush-women-talk-trane>

Schedule
October 16, 2018: 6:30pm

< back

previous listing • next listing