WHEN PATHS CROSS: Contemporary Dance, Theater, and Soft Acrobatics

With Fern Katz and Ricardo Paz

This workshop will be split into two parts; Physical preparation for acro-dance and researching the technicality and physicality of soft acrobatics within the context of contemporary dance and partnering techniques.

Using text, improvisation, and soft acrobatic and partnering skills to create a scene, Fern and Ricardo will guide the participants to interact with theater, dance, and each other to build a short physical dance theater scene, using what is already available in the space to create a set.

The purpose of this workshop is to spark a creative burst of energy and playfulness, to foster communication and teamwork, all within a theatrical/dance context. In this workshop, we will teach how to be resourceful, quick-thinking, and use our instincts to create; let's discover the vast realm of creative possibilities in this weekend workshop!
