This October, creators are gathering to be a part of a weekend of community building art. We will be hosting a collection of pieces at Alchemical Theatre Laboratory to share inspiration, spread awareness of current pressing social and political concerns, and give emerging and established artists a platform to share their thoughtful work in a fully produced showcase. Proceeds will go towards communities and organizations that support environmental sustainability, and promote new art.

For every ticket sold, one tree will be planted in Peru's Madre de Dios region of the Amazon Basin!
