Dance/NYC joins #NYCInspires, a citywide campaign to increase funding for arts and culture across all New York City communities, focused on: increased access to experiencing and creating arts and culture across the city; expanding arts and cultural education; and supporting workforce development and diversity in the arts and cultural sector. An increase in funding would allow the Department of Culture Affairs (DCLA) to increase financial support for currently funded organizations, grow funding for arts councils to offer re-grants to individual artists, and add new funding that would increase cultural equity by supporting a wider array of arts and culture groups across all five boroughs.

Update as of June 22:

The city has passed a budget for FY2019, and Dance/NYC joins New Yorkers for Culture & Arts and colleague advocates in thanking the Mayor and the City Council for increasing funding for arts and culture to the tune of $20 million. This is a much needed additional investment in the many organizations working to provide culture and art to ALL New Yorkers. Find a contact directory below to send a call/email/tweet of thanks to the Mayor and your local Council Member today.

Update as of June 5:

Haven't had a chance to E-mail your council member? Perhaps you'd rather call?

As we enter the final days of this budget season, we are urging the City Council to increase funding for culture and arts. We are asking you to call your local Council Member to voice your support for increased investment in culture TODAY, Tuesday June 5. This last push from our cultural partners across the five boroughs will ensure that our urgent ask for support will be on their minds, and increase the chances we will get the funds we need to provide Culture for All.

Hi, my name is _____ from _____(organization), located in district _____.

I know that the work on the city budget is entering its final phase, and I'm calling to urge Council Member _____ to support a $30 million dollar increase in funding for arts and culture for New Yorkers, which includes baselining the critical $10 million increase from last year.

It has long been proven that robust culture and arts programs increase school performance for our children, increase the health and longevity of our seniors, increase the mental health and vibrancy of our communities, and drive our local economies.

The city's Cultural Plan rightly calls for culture for all New Yorkers. Now it is time to put that plan into action by funding the organizations who are working to provide culture to every citizen.

We need your help! Thank you for all the work you're doing.

Update as of June 1:

Share with your Council Member why arts & culture is important to New Yorkers.

It is imperative that our City Council members hear from us as we enter the final days of the budget process. Please copy and paste the message below---adding your own stories and thoughts if you can!---and email your Council representative.

Also attached is a city-wide borough document to share with your council member. It details the impact of arts and culture on our community and economy. If you would like a document specific to your district please email ny4cainfo@gmail.com for more information.

It will be great if every council member gets back from the long weekend to read many emails from cultural groups. Let's Do This!

Thanks so much for this and for all you are doing!

"Dear Council Member _____

As one of your constituents, I am writing to thank you for your past support and implore you to push for a much needed increase in funding for the cultural groups in your district, and all over the city. It has long been proven that robust culture and arts programs increase school performance for our children, increase the health and longevity of our seniors, increase the mental health and vibrancy of our communities, and drive our local economies.

The city's Cultural Plan rightly calls for culture for all New Yorkers. Now it is time to put that plan into action by funding the groups like ours who are working to provide culture to every citizen. We can start by increasing the funding for culture in the 2019 budget by $30 million, and by baselining last year's critical $10 million increase.

Thank you for your support for culture and for all your work."
