(FAQ after letter)

Dear Dance Community,

As we approach the end of what has been a full and tumultuous year, we are grateful for each of you and the community of care and intention we have forged over these two pandemic years. It is without question that the impacts of COVID-19 are still present—we are still in the middle of a global pandemic compounded by multiple historic crises which have required us to adapt and to reconsider our role in the world. While there is much work to be done to address the root causes that have led us here, we are encouraged by the unrelenting commitment the dance community has shown to growth, self- and community-care, and activism.

For Dance/NYC, 2021 presented unique opportunities to transform our service delivery and work in collaboration with many field-wide efforts spearheaded by you, our community.

Led by Research and Advocacy Team members Gregory Youdan and Sarah Cecilia Bukowski, Dance/NYC signed on to eleven legislative letters, offered ten testimonies to City Council, released the Coronavirus Dance Impact Informational Brief, held eighteen field-wide calls including a Vaccines for Dancers Town Hall, and continued to compile resources and updates for the Reopening Dance in NYC Digital Toolkit (a collaboration with Gibney). In addition to these long-term projects, Dance/NYC continues to be responsive to the needs of the field in the case of local and/or national events. Most recently, during the aftermath of Hurricane Ida, we compiled an extensive list of Hurricane Ida Emergency Response Resources specifically geared towards dancers and dance workers. We also deepened our advocacy and intervention in the issue area of economic justice, by questioning how dance is practiced infrastructurally and reassessing how individual dance workers can be better supported. We want to move towards a world where dance is practiced with dignity, and where dance workers earn a living and thriving wage.

Led by Senior Manager of Programming and Justice Initiatives, Candace Thompson-Zachery, Dance/NYC hosted two event series: Aesthetics and Artistry, which focused on investigating practices of artistry within New York City immigrant and disability dance communities, and Redefining Practice, which explored how artists and institutions are adapting, unlearning and innovating new ways of being in creation to prioritize new learnings in racial justice, physical/emotional safety, and community care.

As we move into 2022, we will explore the theme of Life cycles. Livelihoods. Legacies, with the Dance/NYC Symposium in March. Guest curators George Emilio Sanchez and x, alongside the Symposium Programming Committee, will continue their work to create a three-day hybrid symposium. To respond to the financial realities of the sector, Dance/NYC will continue to provide ticketing tiers that better reflect attendee's financial possibilities and will soon announce ways members of the community can engage without financial contributions.

Led by Grantmaking Manager, Kirsten Reynolds, Dance/NYC administered five grantmaking program applications in addition to ongoing management of two multi-year grantmaking programs. The Dance Advancement Fund (2020-2021) and New York City Dance Rehearsal Space Subsidy Program (2019-2021) are each concluding their final year. Additional grantmaking programs included application cycles for the Disability. Dance. Artistry. Residency Program 2021-2022, Dance Advancement Fund (2022-2023), Coronavirus Dance Relief Fund: Reopening Support (2021), Disability. Dance. Artistry. Dance and Social Justice Fellowship Program (2021), and New York City Dance Rehearsal Space Subsidy Program (2022-2024) Request for Expressions of Interest. For more information about our Grantmaking programs, please visit our website.

For 2022, our desire as an organization and collective of workers is to dive deeply, engaging in a spirit of inquiry and learning while returning to more intimate and interdependent community relationships. Some of our guiding questions include: How can we continue to learn, positioning ourselves as lifelong apprentices? How do we remain adaptive, accountable, and transparent in our relationships and to the field about our power, resources, and capacity? How do we show up with integrity and in alignment with our values as individuals and as a collective? Who are we best positioned to serve? How can we ensure that our community experiences the greatest material benefits from our efforts? How can we ensure that joy, rest, and abundance, both for the individual and the ecology as a whole, remain centered in all we do? And finally, how can we ensure that we can make dance with dignity?

In short— 2022 will be a year for exploration, reimagining, and grounding. We invite you to join us in committing to approaching your practice anew, or in the words of arts leader Paloma McGregor, "come and apprentice."

To prepare us for the shift into this new year, and in an effort to continue to serve you transparently, here is what you can expect from us over the coming weeks: Dance/NYC will be closed from Friday, December 24, 2021 through Sunday, January 2, 2022 for winter break. Upon our return, we will focus exclusively on internal intention setting from Monday, January 3 through Sunday, January 9, 2022. During this period (December 24, 2021 through January 9, 2022) our remote office will be closed for external activity which includes, but is not limited to, all public-facing communications: e-newsletter, e-newsletter ads, website ads, e-blasts, social media, advocacy alerts, field-wide calls, and email. To help you continue to access important resources, we've compiled the answers to your most frequently asked questions here, including details on where you can get timely information about the field while we are away.

We will resume our outward facing services to the field and communications with you on Monday, January 10, 2022. Upon our return, we invite you to join us for our upcoming Field-Wide Call on Thursday, January 20 at 4:00 p.m. Visit Dance.NYC for more upcoming event announcements.

If you have any questions about what we are up to, how we are honoring our commitments to you, or recommendations for how we can do better, please feel free to contact us. Our emails are publicly available on Dance.NYC.

Thank you for trusting us to serve you and for all you do to ensure that dance can thrive here in NYC. See you in the new year!

With Appreciation,

The Dance/NYC Team
