FISCAL SPONSORSHIP RESOURCES

Last Updated November 14, 2024

The following represent those organizations that fiscally sponsor dance artists and projects in the metropolitan New York City area, as identified by Dance/NYC through ongoing research, including Advancing Fiscally Sponsored Dance Artists & Projects (2017), Advancing Fiscally Sponsored Artists & Art Projects (2017), and Discovering Fiscally Sponsored Dancemakers (2012). Fiscal sponsorship is a formal arrangement in which a 501(c)(3) public charity provides financial and legal oversight to an entity that does not have its own 501(c)(3) status. Sponsored artists and art projects are eligible to solicit and receive grants and tax-deductible contributions that are normally available only to 501(c)(3) organizations.

This list is not comprehensive, and Dance/NYC welcomes information about additional sponsors. Please e-mail programsassistant@dance.nyc with suggestions.

Center for Traditional Music and Dance

Founded in 1968, the Center for Traditional Music and Dance (CTMD) assists New York City's immigrant communities to preserve the vitality of their distinctive performing arts traditions and promotes cross-cultural understanding by sharing these art forms with audiences across the city. Nationally renowned for programs that combine research, documentation, presentation, and education, CTMD assists immigrant communities in passing traditions to new generations.

City Lore

Founded in 1986, City Lore's mission is to foster New York City – and America's – living cultural heritage through education and public programs. It documents, presents, and advocates for New York City's grassroots cultures to ensure their living legacy in stories and histories, places, and traditions. It works in four cultural domains: urban folklore and history; preservation; arts education; and grassroots poetry traditions. In each of these realms, it sees itself as furthering cultural equity and modeling a better world with projects as dynamic and diverse as New York City itself.

The Field

Now in its 31st year, more than 1,100 performing and media artists (and their 7,500 collaborators) come to The Field each year to build their businesses. Under its stewardship, these artists produce 1,200 shows for more than 400,000 audiences around the world. Founded by artists for artists in 1986, The Field is committed to empowering artists and cultural workers of all identities to achieve their visions. It provides strategic services to thousands of performing and media artists and companies in New York City and beyond. It fosters creative exploration, stewards innovative management strategies, and is delighted to help artists reach their fullest potential. Freedom of expression and the rights of all peoples will be honored and respected via its programs, services, staffing, and policies.

Fractured Atlas

Fractured Atlas empowers artists, arts organizations, and other cultural sector stakeholders by eliminating practical barriers to artistic expression, so as to foster a more agile and resilient cultural ecosystem. Fractured Atlas has been an arts industry leader in the use of technology to address challenges facing the arts community, share information and resources, and empower arts organizations with practical tools for managing their operations. Nearly all of Fractured Atlas' services are accessible online. Automation of mundane tasks (such as data entry) and integration of all its operations (including its member database and financial records) enables it to serve a vast constituency with few staff members, whose focus remains entirely on providing the kind of personalized feedback an automated system cannot provide.

GOH Productions

GOH Productions' mission is embodied in its logo, GOH, the Japanese character meaning "working together under one roof." That definition informs all the work it does — collaborative and expansive, stretching the sky to its fullest capacity. It began in 1979, during a time of fiscal cutbacks and political turmoil. It continues to face, head-on, the challenges of nurturing artworks and artistic collaboration, testing the boundaries and borders of all categories. Its primary goal is working with experimental and interdisciplinary artists to clarify their artistic vision and to make possible the production of new works in a variety of genres and in a variety of global landscapes.

New York Foundation for the Arts

The New York Foundation for the Arts (NYFA) was founded in 1971 to empower artists at critical stages in their creative lives. Each year it awards $650,000 in cash grants to individual artists in all artistic disciplines. Its fiscal sponsorship program is one of the oldest and most reputable in the country and helps artists and organizations raise and manage an average of $4 million annually. Its Learning programs provide thousands of artists with professional development training and support, and its website, NYFA.org, received over 1.2 million visitors last year and has information about more than 12,000 opportunities and resources available to artists in all disciplines.

New York Live Arts

New York Live Arts is a center of diverse artists devoted to body-based investigation that transcends barriers between and within communities, led by world-renowned artist Bill T. Jones. It is a place that brings people together to explore common values through live gathering and performance, reminding us of our humanity and elevating the human spirit. It is an institution with an unequivocal commitment to supporting the creative identities of people living together in creative community. It provides much-needed resources to artists at every stage of their career, in a world where funding for the arts is increasingly reliant on the generosity of individuals.

Pentacle \(Foundation for Independent Artists and Unique Projects\)

Pentacle is a not-for-profit management support organization for small- and mid-sized companies and project-based artists working in dance and theater. Pentacle's mission is to provide these communities with flexible and affordable management support in a sustained way, on an expert level, and at an affordable price. Since 1976, Pentacle has served as a model for arts administration, a direct resource to the groups and artists with whom it works, and a facilitator to the performing arts community with innovative programs of local and national impact. Pentacle is unique in providing infrastructure support directly to dance and theater groups and artists. It grounds its services and programming in the creative work of each artist/group it works with, and respond and adapt to the ever-changing needs of the community, so artists have more time to create, perform, and engage with the world.

International Association of Blacks in Dance \(IABD\)

IABD preserves and promotes dance by people of African ancestry or origin, and assists and increases opportunities for artists in advocacy, audience development, education, funding, networking, performance, philosophical dialogue, and touring. promotes dance by people of African ancestry or origin, and assists and increases opportunities for artists in advocacy, audience development, education, funding, networking, performance, philosophical dialogue, and touring. Its vision is for dance, by people of African ancestry or origin, to be revered, respected, and preserved in the consciousness and cultural institutions of all people.

QUEER|ART

QUEER|ART is a non-profit arts organization serving a diverse and vibrant community of LGBTQ+ artists across generations and disciplines. Queer|Art was born out of the recognition of a generation of artists and audiences lost to the ongoing AIDS Crisis, and in a profound understanding that one of the many repercussions of that loss has been a lack of mentors and role models for a new generation of LGBTQ+ artists. Its mission is to provide individuals within our community with the tools, resources, and guidance they need to achieve success and visibility for their work at the highest levels of their field. Queer|Art is currently piloting service as a fiscal sponsor.

AfroPresencia

AfroPresencia focuses on advocating for social, racial and economic justice within the Americas and the Caribbean. It showcases the lived experiences of marginalized populations through the use of visual and social media and us it as a platform to present information to the global community. As part of its mission, it offers fiscal sponsorship services to groups and projects engaged in activities that work to empower people of African descent.

Allied Media Projects

AMP cultivates media for liberation. It is a network of people and projects, rooted in Detroit and connected to hundreds of other places across the globe. AMP's Sponsored Projects Program has provided supportive services for more than 150 groups across the U.S. and Puerto Rico, with over half rooted in Detroit. They are community technologists, radio producers, chefs, fashion designers, dancers, and so much more.

Amerindia

Amerindia's mission is to promote the indigenous perspective in the arts to a broad audience through the creation of new work in contemporary art forms—visual, performing, literary and media. Amerindia provides fiscal sponsorship to both individual artists and small or mid-sized organizations within the Native arts community.

National Resources

Fiscal Sponsor Directory is a tool created by the San Francisco Study Center to help connect community projects with fiscal sponsors; it is also a forum for fostering understanding of that relationship and its impact on the nonprofit sector.

National Network of Fiscal Sponsors promotes the understanding and professional practice of fiscal sponsorship. It is committed to raising the understanding of fiscal sponsorship among funders and the public, it shares a desire to build best practices, and it enhances the sector by building capacity to advance public benefit.
