-Winter/ Spring 2011 Internship:

January 15- June 25, 2011;

Application Deadline: December 10, 2010

The Cora Dance Education Internship provides a unique opportunity to someone with a deep interest in working with and teaching dance to young children. Working closely with Cora's Education Director, Educational

Adviser, and 3-5 professional teaching artists at The Cora School, interns would be present to observe and assist in approximately 10 hours of class instruction per week, at both the Cora Studio and on-site (working in various school partnerships in our neighborhood). Interns must have a deep interest in working with and teaching dance to children ages 3-12. Interns may also participate in the transport of students from local public schools to the studio and may participate in other education-related activities such as performances, open houses, flier distribution, student registration and - for those with previous experience - paid substitute teaching in the studio and public schools in which we work. Education interns will attend 1-3 professional development/mentoring workshops and teachers meetings as well as all education related performances and events. Internship is approximately 10 hours per week, not including weekend events and professional development workshops (approximately 1 per month.) To apply, please send the following to Education Coordinator Katie Dean at kdean@coradance.org

- A single page letter of interest expressing what you hope to gain through this internship as well as what you bring to the table

- A current resume

- 3 references: include name, email, phone number, how long each has known you and in what context.
