Armitage Gone! Dance, an internationally renowned modern ballet company, is seeking interns to work in our New York City office. Excellent opportunity to work with Tony Award nominated choreographer Karole Armitage and company management to learn about the administrative workings of a dance company.

Responsibilities include administrative duties as well as working on marketing, development, and company management projects. Opportunity to assist with the preparation and execution of a two-week New York performance season at the Joyce Theater. Applicants should be current college students or recent graduates with an interest in arts administration or the performing arts.

Hours: 10 hours per week; hours are flexible

Duration: mid-March to mid-May

This is an unpaid internship. College credit may be arranged if applicable.

To Apply: Send resume and cover letter to sarah@armitagegonedance.org with "Intern" in the subject line.
