Loom weaves together text-based storytelling, dense vocal harmonies, and full-body movement to make lush, vibrant ensemble performances. Founded through workshops with the TEAM, SITI Company, and Pig Iron, we intertwine the innovations of those established theater companies into a fresh interdisciplinary voice of our own.

We need six more actor – dancer – singer – collaborators to finish building our new show Every Body, and perform with us in our upcoming tour of New York City parks this May.

Must be free to rehearse weekday evenings in April, and weekday mornings the last week of April, through the first week of May. Performances are the middle three weekends of May. See attached rehearsal schedule for more details.
