This Friday, we are shooting a video for the lead single on Das Racist's new album called "Michael Jackson." It is a riff on the Michael Jackson "Black or White" video and it will feature several traditional dance troops from various ethnicities, including African, Native American, Thai and Indian a la the MJ joint.

So we are looking for some dancers who may fit the bill to come on set in Brooklyn for an hour or two. There is unfortunately no budget for the talent in this video, but it will get a significant amount of TV/online exposure based on the bands current level of popularity and will be a guaranteed indelible experience and a half.

Interest? Intrigue even? Please feel free to forward this email along, and if you have any questions I'd be more than happy to speak with you.
