Are you interested in nutrition?

Would you like a flexible job that you can work around your dance career?

As an Herbalife distributor you have the flexibility to work around your dance career or primary job, or even explore the opportunity to build your own fulltime career centered around health and wellness. As a member of our team you will work closely with a certified nutritionist to learn both about classic and cellular nutrition. In addition to making a substantial income, your work will help people to live healthier, active lives.

We are opening a new nutrition club this summer in Manhattan. If you are a go-getter, sociable, and driven, then we want to hear from you!
