Jenny Rocha will be teaching a workshop with a culminating audition in October/November. Repertory from The Painted Ladies Project will be taught with a focus on versatility and performance skills. The class will be constructive and open for all levels. At the end of the workshop, an audition will be held for 1-2 positions as a painted lady understudy with paid performance opportunities. The company performs every weekend.

If you'd like to do the workshop/audition, please email Jenny your interest. You will receive a follow up email with class dates and audition date as well as options to sign up.
