New Graduate Teaching Assistantship and Scholarships
Graduate Program in Dance Education/Pedagogy
Rutgers University

Inspirational teaching begins at the heart of artistry at Rutgers University.

The Graduate Program in Dance Education at Rutgers University announces a new Graduate Teaching Assistantship instructing undergraduate dance with Rutgers salary, benefits and tuition remission. In addition the program awards partial scholarships and additional assistantships, including the Rutgers/American Ballet Theatre Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis Satellite School Assistantship. Rutgers offers three graduate tracks including: a master's degree with teacher certification, a master's degree for already certified professional dance teachers and a unique 5 Year BFA + master's degree. Applications and auditions completed by February 1, 2013 receive priority consideration for assistantships and scholarships. Audition Dates:

January 26, 2013

February 9, 2013

February 23, 2013

The Graduate Program in Dance Education is a partnership program between the Graduate School of Education and the Mason Gross School of the Arts, New Jersey's premier conservatory. The Dance Department, home of New Jersey's Outstanding Student Teacher 2012, is listed as one of the top five dance programs in the nation by Backstage Magazine. Cultivate your artistry while growing your teaching skills.
