The 2013 iLAND Symposium, Adaptability + Flow: Water and Weather Over a Changing City, is quickly approaching and we'd love for you to join us.

iLAND is searching for volunteers to assist with registration, panel/workshop/performance coordination, documentation and hospitality assistance. We would greatly appreciate any amount of time that you could donate and would offer full participation in the Symposium in exchange for your time.

Friday April 5th | Plenary | 6:30 pm
Theresa Lang Center at The New School | 55 West 13th Street, 2nd Floor

Saturday April 6th | Panels, Workshops & Performances | 9:30 am to 5:30 pm
Kellen Auditorium at The New School | 66 Fifth Avenue at 13th Street

If you are interested and available OR know someone who might be interested in the opportunity to participate in the 2013 Symposium, please contact Megan Kendzior at info@ilandart.org with your availability.

Adaptability + Flow: Water and Weather Over a Changing City is an open forum for exploring new methods of understanding urban ecosystems through innovative collaborations between practitioners of movement, dance, science, and environmental management. iLAND cultivates a deeper engagement with urban environmental issues through its cross-disciplinary approach, and the annual symposium invites the general public to experience and explore recent works emerging from the iLAND community. iLAND is a non-profit organization, founded in 2004 by Jennifer Monson, deeply committed to investigating the power of dance in collaboration with other fields to illuminate our kinetic understanding of the world.
